

IACA is a not-for-profit association organized to provide a forum for consultation and collaboration on matters of interest to stakeholders in the cash payment cycle. Through its Projects and Committees, the association contributes to the set of standards, codes and best practices for cash payments and currency production worldwide.

IACA's membership includes a core of member institutions representing Issuing Authorities / Central / and Reserve Banks around the world, International Security Authorities, Currency Producers, Currency Users, Volume Currency Handlers and Industry Suppliers.

Some of our Projects and Endeavors include:

- The Global Payment Study Project, which is an international initiative to develop robust international data on retail payment trends. As part of the Project, IACA organizes Central Bank Forums, where we bring together those individuals within Central Banks who work in Research on Payment Methods to discuss and collaborate on various key issues to advance the project.
- The IACA Currency Awards, recognize and promote excellence in the industry. The award nominations are open to any organization or individual supplying products, systems or services and IACA members vote to determine winners.
- The “Industry Guidelines on Banknote Production”, “Guidelines for Tendering” “Agent/Distributor Conduct Guidelines” documents are published to educate the Currency Industry. These documents are excellent training documents for individuals entering the industry and great references for those who seek in-depth information.
- The first ever E-Library dedicated to currency. Located within the associations “Members only” section, this library includes a system that filters relevant information from over 5000 internet news sources, a searchable archive of articles and press releases, conference presentations and reports and links to relevant industry websites. Visit our website at www.currencyaffairs.org .

By joining IACA, you will not only benefit from these important and on-going Projects but you will have the opportunity to interact with the senior executives in all sectors of the currency industry, both from the public and private sector. You will enjoy a never before available opportunity to achieve an up to the minute awareness of industry trends and emerging public policies, along with the opportunity to join industry leaders in open forum dialogues which will influence the direction of the industry.
